“ Dad,

You were such a beautiful, fun loving father I couldn't have asked for better. You may have been an Atheist Minister (haha) but I know you went to heaven, because I watched the clouds roll up over the sun as they began to grow darker and darker and the rain fell so hard to the ground that night, with every thunder clap lightening lit up the skies.....I never imagined you not being in my life, death isn't pretty, but you're no longer suffering in many ways then one and I do find peace in that. Many things can and are taken away in life but "feelings" can never ever be taken from anyone, I'll eternally carry you in my heart, I love you Dad.... Tricia ❤️

“ Uncle Bert, I still can't believe that you're gone. You were my childhood. I wouldn't be the man I am today without you. You taught me to hunt, how to hang with the boys. Hell you even taught me how to stand up for myself and that weird sex ed involving a Gatorade bottle and a tree branch. Most importantly you taught me to work hard, take care of my family. You were the only grand father I ever knew, though you were my uncle. I was just your sisters kid. You didn't have to take the time, the years out of your life to make sure I learned what it is to be a man. Yet you did. I owe you, my family owes you. Jameson and Ruger owe you a debt of gratitude one cannot comprehend. The last time I saw you we shared a shot of 7&7 and puffed on some montecristo cigars. Today I do the same in your honest cause as in your words “Whats the point of living if you can't have fun”. I love you, buddy.
