“ George and I were buddies. I will sincerely miss my fellow Taurus, stubborn and silly (with me, and what a joy to know that side of him), and always with a kind hello and a smile. He didn't have to be nice to me, his kid's friend, but he surely was.

I will miss you, Mr. Swarrow. You were a loving part of my life, and I will forever be thankful for the love you shared with us on this earth, especially because it gave me Angel as a soul sister for most of my life journey. My condolences to all of the Swarrow family.

You worked so hard, my friend, and now your work is done. Rest in peace, George. Bless you. And, yes, I know you still have your eye on us.

“ My oldest brother George, first brother and first in many things in my life. The first to teach me how to walk by the time I was nine months old along with his friend Ronnie. The first to teach me how to hang out with my brothers because he would dress me up and always take me along with him and Ronnie when we lived in Brooklyn. He would hold me in his knees with my head in his hand and rock me to sleep singing the song “ Oh Where Can My Baby Be”. I don’t know why he chose a song about a car crash but it is etched in my brain forever. I haven’t heard that song for many years and still remember every word. I still remember getting out of the hospital when I was two and I seeing a giant 5 foot stuffed dog waiting for me. He was the first to make me an Aunt. He pinned my corsage for my eighth grade graduation dance. God forbid if I had a date!! I don’t know who was more protective my brothers or our German shepherd buttons that kept the boys away!! I think it was George. If anyone can remember Gary’s wedding than you’ll know what I mean!!! LOL The first to get me my own teen phone. When I fractured my tailbone and couldn’t go to school he kept me at his house and gave me my first job taking care of my niece. He would also pay me extra for helping him do the payroll for the guys on the railroad. LOL your secret is out now😭. The biggest first was when all of my brothers worked on a car from the junk yard, put a new motor in, did bodywork, painted and did everything themselves and gave me my first car for my birthday! I still miss that car! These are the wonderful brothers that I have had the fortune to grow up with. I love all of them dearly. These are the memories that you cherish and keep close to your heart. Although George chose to keep to himself most of the time, those that knew him also knew he had quite a quick witted and humorous personality. I often told him that he should show that side of himself more often. That’s the side I will remember. Loving, caring, laughing
I LOVE YOU GEORGY💖

LOVE AND A VERY BROKEN HEART FILLED WITH SORROW
GOES OUT TO ALL OF MY FAMILY💔🖤
